Prudence! Prudence!
In medication, as in aught else, prudence should be our guide. Yet thous and east it to the winds. Every new nestrum unds its pattons, the medical empiries of every false school have their guils. Every change in the gamut of humbug is rung successfully—for a time at least—the notes being furnished by the credulous. In happy contrast to the many advertised impostures of the day stands Hostette's Stomach Bitters, now in its third decade of popularity, approved and recommended by physicians, Indersed by the press of many lands, sought and prized by invalids everywhere. It is an ascertained specials for and preventive of malarial discasses, thrunks indigestion, liver complaint and constipation, checks the growth of the fundation and accuragin, is a peerless intigrant and useful diurstic.
